

FROM HENDRIK VERWOERD TO NELSON MANDELA

INTRODUCTION

This exhibit tells the story of Apartheid

(a system of legislation sanctioning racial segregation and discrimination against non-whites) from its creation, to its demise with the advent of a democratic South Africa in 1994.

Although slavery as well as legislation based on racial discrimination existed from the earliest colonial days in South Africa, the focus of this exhibit is on the period from the Union of South Africa until the establishment of a democratic Republic of South Africa, and the two men central to this story, Hendrick Verwoerd and Nelson Mandela.

PLAN

		Page
	Title page: Introduction, Plan, Bibliography.	1
1	1910 Union of South Africa.	2
2	1948 National Party election victory.
3	1950 Racial classification & 1952 Pass Laws Act.	3
4	1956 Women's March to Union Buildings.	4
5	1958 - 1966 Prime Minister Verwoerd & Bantustan of Transkei.
6	1956 - 1961 Treason Trial.	5
7	1960 Referendum.	6
		7
8	1961 Republic of South Africa.	8
9	1963 - 1964 Rivonia Trial.	9
		10
10	Helen Suzman.	11
11	1966 Verwoerd assassination.
12	1966 - 1989 The 'Border War'.	12
13	1976 Soweto riots.
14	1990 Nelson Mandela released from prison.	13
15	1992 Whites only Referendum.
16	1993 Nobel Peace Prize.
17	1994 First democratic election.	14
		15
18	1994 President Mandela Inauguration & new flag.	15
19	1996 New Constitution.
20	2008 Nelson Mandela 90 th birthday.	16
21	2013 "Aah! Dalibhunga!" Hamba Kahle Tata.

The two personalities most central to this story are

Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd
(8 September 1901 - 6 September 1966)

Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela
(18 July 1918 - 5 December 2013)

Philatelic information, documents, photocopies, photographs - information and explanations in italics.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Wikipedia (various articles).
- South African History Online (various articles).
- Contact (South Africa's non-racial fortnightly) Vol. 5 No. 12 - 14 June 1962.
- Historical Papers of University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg (various articles).
- SACC catalogue 2019/2020 edition.